WE daily hear of the most astonishing cures being effected by that great and popular medicine, the genuine
H. G. FARRELL'S ARABIAN LINIMENT,
The greatest remedy ever discovered for almost all complaints requiring an external application, either in man or beast. In the short length of time it has been introduced to the people of the United States, it has gained a reputation unequalled by any other medicine in the known world. Why is it? The answer is plain—because no medicine of the kind has ever been put before the public so deserving of the rich laurels it has acquired; and it will continue to gain friends as long as it performs the most extraordinary cures of various descriptions, after the doctors and all other remedies had failed. We do not only say that the genuine H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment can and does perform cures which no other medicine can do, but you have certificates here of what it has done.

Theddeus Smith, of Mudd Creek, Tazewell Co. Ills. says—"I had lost the use of my arm for more than a year, by palsy or paralysis; the flesh had entirely withered away, leaving nothing but skin, muscle and bone. I tried all the best doctors and all the remedies I could hear of, but they did no good. I then commenced the use of H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment, and a few bottles entirely cured me, and my arm is now as strong and fleshy as the other. It also first rate for burns, sprains and bruises."

The celebrated Doctor JAYNE, whose reputation as a benefactor to mankind extends over the whole world, reports that a lady of one of the first families in Philadelphia had been confined to her bed fourteen years with Rheumatism, and was cured by H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment. He also says—"Your Liniment is going rapidly; send me a supply immediately by Leeche's fast line."

My daughter, when 6 months old, was taken with a swelling in the tonsils, which grew larger and larger, till when 6 years old she had great difficulty in swallowing her food. Every night watch was kept, fearing she would suffocate. The best doctors attended her, but could give no relief. I took her to the most eminent doctors in the east; they said there was no help for her but to cut out her throat. With a sad heart I returned home with her, when she became so much worse that the doctors had to be called in again; they decided that the tonsils must be cut off, as the only means of giving relief. My wife would not consent to this, and she determined to try your liniment, which gave relief the very first application, and by a continued use she entirely recovered. She is now 10 years old, and fleshy and healthy as could be desired. Your Liniment is also the best in use for bruises, sprains, cuts, burns, headache, &c. and it will remove the most severe pain in a few moments. It also cured caked under in my cow in a few days. GEO. FORD, Peoria, March 29, 1849.

Mr. H. G. FARRELL—Your Arabian Liniment is the greatest medicine in the world for horse flesh. I had a mare about to foal, when she became so helpless that she could not rise from the ground; she was in this way for several days, when with 7 others, I succeeded in raising her up, which was the only way it could be done, when I commenced the use of your excellent liniment, rubbed in well over the joints, and astonishing as it may appear, before I used up a bottle of the dollar size, she was able to get up and walk herself. I would not have given ten dollars for her before, and many advised me to shoot her to get her out of misery; she is now one of my best mares. I suppose it is a strain in the loins. L. W. HUNT, Peoria, Ill. July 2, 1849.

Look Out For Counterfeits!
As they are in circulation, the true and only genuine H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment always reads with the "H. G." initials, before Farrell's, thus, "H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment," and his signature is also on the label of the bottle, and these words are blown in the glass bottle, "H. G. Farrell's Liniment, Peoria." Do not touch any other and look well before you purchase, or you will get imposed upon.

Manufactured only by H. G. Farrell, inventor and proprietor, and wholesale druggist, No. 17 Main Street, Peoria, Ill., to whom all communications must be addressed; and for sale by O. Henderson, Glasgow; H. Blakeley & Co. St. Louis, and by regular agents throughout the United States.

THE TIMES

FROM CALIFORNIA.—Messrs. Jas. A. W. Berry, and Wm. A. W. Berry of Linn county, and Mr. I. T. C. Boyle, of Livingston, passed through here last week, on their way home from California. Mr. Irvin Hays, of North Glasgow, came with them. They left San Francisco on the 25th September, and were detained fifteen days at Chagres. There was about one thousand persons there awaiting passage. A number of Boone county men returned with them.

PLANK ROADS.—We observe several of our exchanges are beginning to talk about Plank Roads. The present condition of the roads is suggestive of improvement of some kind, but nobody except Editors seem to care anything about the matter. They should "keep it before the people," however, and perhaps something may be done in Missouri, by the time their children get families around them. If building a Plank road would get Benton out of the State, we think the Anties would take stock, liberally; or, on the other hand, if it would exterminate the Anties, the Bentonites would construct one, without toll gates. As it is, they will do nothing, and the Whigs cant

ENROLLING CLERK.—Samuel R. Raymond, Esq. late editor of the Hanibal Journal, will be a candidate for Enrolling Clerk of the House of Representatives, at the next session of the Legislature. And Col. Jno. H. Price, late editor of the Booneville Democrat, will be a candidate for Engraving Clerk of the House. Success to the late editors.

NEWS FOR THE LADIES.—The Home Journal for 1851 will contain a series of returned Love Letters. Willis thinks "those who write well have written best to those they love;" and as his budget is ample, something interesting may be looked for. The Journal is the best Ladies paper published in the country. Two Dollars per year. Address Morris & Willis, N. Y.

FIRE.—The residence of Albert G. Williams, near Clinton, Monroe county, in this State, was destroyed by fire last week.

Col. Bliss, it is stated, is preparing a history of the campaigns of Gen. Taylor all of which he witnessed.

Mr. H. McDowd, of Knox county, returned from California a few weeks since, and found upon his arrival that he had $10,000 in counterfeit bills, for which he gave gold dust before leaving California.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Mr. John Longmire, an old and respected citizen of Palmyra, was killed by falling down a flight of stairs, last week.

ONE VOTE.
The Whigs of a county in Ohio elected a member of the House of Representatives by one vote. The election of that member gives them a majority of one in the Legislature.

HABIT.—Whatever we do, we do from habit. Once commenced doing good, and you will find, in a short time, it is as easy as lying.

POLICY OF THE ADMINISTRATION.
The able Washington correspondent of the Louisville Courier, says: "The course of Mr. Fillmore's administration is definitely and unalterably defined. Its influences, its practice, its precepts, and its patronage, will be thrown to the uttermost against the disunionists of the South and the abolitionists of the North, and in favor only of those who are known to be national in all their political sympathies. To defeat these conspirators against the Union, whether cloaked up in their infidelity against their country under the garb of being a whig or that of locofoco, should be the primary object of all the friends of the Union; and if this administration is to be overthrown by such 'sans culottes,' we shall have reached a point in moral as well as political degradation, that I am not willing yet to concede exists."

THE TRUANT HUSBAND.

A SKETCH.
It was past midnight, and she sat leaning her pale cheek on her hand, counting the dull ticking of the French clock that stood on the marble chimney-piece, and ever and anon lifting her weary eye to its dial, to mark the lapse of another. It was past midnight, and yet he returned not! She arose, and taking the lamp, whose pale rays alone illumined the solitary chamber, proceeded with noiseless steps to a small inner apartment; the curtains of his little bed were drawn aside, and the young mother gazed on her sleeping child! What a vivid contrast did that glowing cheek and smiling brow present, as he lay in rosy slumber to the faded, yet beautiful face that hung over him in tears! "Will he resemble his father?" was the thought that passed for a moment through her devoted heart, and a sigh was the only answer!

'Tis his well known knock—and the steps of the drowsy porter echoed through the lofty hall, as with a murmur on his lip, he drew the massy bolts and admitted his thoughtless master.

"Four o'clock, Willis, is it not?" and he sprang up the staircase—another moment he is in her chamber—in her arms!

No reproaches met the truant husband—none save those she could not spare him, in her heavy eye, and faded cheek—yet these spoke to his heart.

"Julia, I have been a wandering husband."

"But you are come now, Charles, and all is well."

And all was well; from that hour Charles Davis became an altered man. Had his wife met him with frowns and sullen tears, he had become a hardened libertine; but her affectionate caresses, the joy that danced in her sunken eye, the hectic flash that lit up her pallid cheek at his approach, were arguments he could not withstand.

Married in early life, while he felt all the ardor, but not the esteem of love—possessed of splendid fortune, having hitherto had the command of his own pleasures—Davis fell into that common error of newly married men, the dread of being controlled. In vain did his parents, who beheld with sorrow the reproaches and misery he was heaping up for himself in after life, remonstrate. Charles Davis turned a deaf ear to advice, and pursued, with companions every way unworthy his society, the path of folly, if not absolute guilt.

The tavern, the club-room, the race-course, too often left her a solitary mourner, or a midnight watcher. Thus the first three years of their wedded life had passed—to him in fevered and restless pleasure, to her in blighted hope or unnummured regret. But this night crowned the patient forbearance of the neglected Julia with its just reward, and gave the death blow to folly in the bosom of Davis! Returning with disgust from the losses of the hazardous table, her meekness and suffering touched him to the soul; the film fell from his eyes, and Vice, in her own hideous deformity, stood unmasked before him!

Ten years have passed since that solitary midnight, when the young matron had bent in tears over her sleeping boy. Behold her now, still in the pride of womanhood, surrounded by other cherub faces, who are listening ere they go to rest to her sweet voice, as it pours forth to the accompaniment of her harp an evening of joy and melody; while a manly form is bending over the music to hide the tear of happiness and triumph that springs from a swelling bosom, as he contemplates the interesting group. Youthful matrons! ye who watch over a wandering perhaps an erring heart—when a reproach trembles on your lips towards a truant husband, imitate Julia Davis! and remember, though Hymen has chains, like the sword of Hermodius they may be covered with flowers, that unkindness and irritability do but harden, if not wholly estrange the heart—while, on the contrary, patience and gentleness of manner (as water dripping on a flinty rock will in time wear it into softness) seldom fail to reclaim to happiness and virtue the Truant Husband.

WHAT A WORLD IT MIGHT BE.

BY CHARLES SWAIN.
O! what a world it might be,
If hearts were always kind;
If, friendship, none would slight thee,
And fortune prove less blind!
With love's own voice to guide us,
Unchangingly and fond;
With all we wish beside us,
And not a care beyond.
O! what a world it might be,
More blest than that of yore;
Come, learn, and 'twill require ye,
To love each other more.

O! what a world of beauty
A loving heart might plan,
If man but did his duty,
And helped his brother man!

Then angel guests would brighten
The threshold with their wings,
And Love Divine enlighten
The old forgotten springs.

O! what a world of beauty
A loving heart might plan,
If man but did his duty,
And helped his brother man!

ODD FELLOWSHIP.

BY A LADY.
It had its birth in Heaven above,
Its motto, Sympathy and Love,
And with the flag of Truth unfurled,
It came to triumph o'er the world:
To soothe the lonely widow's sigh—
To wipe the tear from sorrow's eye;
To teach the heart, oppressed with care,
That blessed lesson—"ne'er despair!"
The joys of age, the hopes of youth,
Are link'd with Friendship, Love & Truth

The first of the following stanzas is from one of the old British poets, and was addressed to a lady, on whose bosom a fluke of snow had fallen and melted:

"The ev'ning snow comes down in haste,
To prove the breast less fair,
But grieves to see itself surpassed,
And melts into a tear."

Pshaw! we can beat that any time. Look here.
"Down her white bosom rolled a tear,
We know it hadn't oughter;
Until at last—at last—oh, dear!
Her bosom was wet as water!"

HARK YE GIRLS!—It is high time that somebody told you a little plain truth. You have been watched for a long time—a certain class of you—and it is plain enough you are laying some plans to cheat somebody. You intend to sell chaff for wheat; and there is danger that some of the foolish "gud-gems" will be sadly taken in.

It may not be your fault that you belong to the "one idea party"—that the single idea of getting a husband is the only one which engrosses much of your attention. But it is your fault that you pursue this idea in the wrong direction. Your venerable first mother of Eden memory, was called a "help" for man, and you are looking for a man to help you; and to help you live in the half idea and half silly way which you have commenced. Men who are worth having, want women for wives. A bundle of gewgaws, bound with a string of flimsy and quavers, sprinkled with cologne, and set in a carmine saucer—this is no help for a man who expects to raise a family of boys and girls on veritable bread and meat. The piano and lace-frame are well enough in their places, and so are ribbons and frills and tinsels; but you can't make a dinner of the former nor a bed-blanket of the latter. And awful as the idea may seem to you, both dinner and blanket, are necessary to domestic enjoyment. Life has its realities as well as its fancies; but you make it a matter of decoration—remembering the tassels and curtain, forgetting the bedstead. Suppose a young man of good sense, and of course of good prospects, to be looking for a wife, what chance have you to be chosen? You may cap him, or trap him, or catch him; but how much better to make it an object for him to catch you! Render yourselves worth catching, and you will need no shrewd mothers or managing brothers to help you to find a market.

Some sensible chap says truly, that a person who tries to raise himself by scandalizing others, might just as well set down on a wheelbarrow, and try to wheel himself.
